Enjoy the scenic view on the way to this 2,725 square foot, three-bedroom, two and a half bath mountain home nestled in the hills overlooking the Naches River. The homeowners wanted a custom house with the character of a log home and mountain living. As you approach the entryway, enjoy the sounds of the flowing river and birds chattering, along with the beautiful view of the mountains and trees around you. The use of logs on the exterior columns utilizes the elements of the surrounding area as you enter the home. The entryway opens into a great room with vaulted ceilings. A ledge was added to the great room to add a display area for the homeowners' love of hunting and other collectibles. The great room has a rock fireplace and is wired with a custom surround sound system.

The gourmet kitchen has hickory cabinets, granite countertops and a slate tile backsplash, a large island with a prep sink, and an eating bar for casual dining. Enjoy the spectacular view of the outdoors from both the formal dining room and living room. Both rooms have hardwood flooring and tray ceilings with rope lighting.

Relax in the master suite, which also has a tray ceiling, and rope lighting. Or, enjoy the outdoors from the private patio and hot tub. The bathroom includes two vanities, a jetted tub, a custom serpentine shower, and a walk-in closet.

The home has a large utility/sewing room and a 474 square foot bonus room with a small balcony overlooking the river and mountain view, and a three-car attached garage. There is structured wiring and speakers throughout the home.
